SOME time ago the Edmonton agricultural society directed the secretary, Mr. Jas. Martin, to write to the department of interior for information regarding the right to second homesteads of those settlers who made entry for their first homesteads between the 26th of May 1883 and the 2nd of June 1888. A reply has been received dated Ottawa March 20th: "The present minister of the interior duly submitted the whole question concerned second homesteads to his colleagues although it had been previously decided upon the recommendation of his predecessor the late Hon. Thomas White that he give the matter much careful consideration, that the granting of second homesteads was not beneficial to the interests of the whole Northwest. The decision arrived at by the government in regard to this matter is that it is not in the interest of the Northwest to change the policy so adopted upon the recommendation of the late minister. The present minister of the interior also specially referred the question of the right to second homesteads of those settlers who made entry between the 26th May 1883 and the 2nd June 1888, to the department of justice, and the decision arrived at with regard to this matter is that they are not entitled to that privilege. Signed, L. Pereira, assistant secretary."

THE last Northwest Territories Gazette contains notice of the erection of the 17th public school district in the Territories, also of the erection of the first state labor and industrial district comprising three townships northeast of Regina and south of the Quappelle river.

She was very late on arrival, but there is still a possibility of her recovery. The winter has been very wet in California, 44 inches of rain having fallen.

FROM a letter recently received at Edmonton it appears that Frank Provost, a former resident, is now under arrest in Golden, B. C., charged with the murder of a Chinaman, having killed one Frederick Lapage. The trouble took place in a saloon at Nelson the new mining town in the Kootenay district of British Columbia. Provost and Lapage were fighting or quarrelling when Provost struck Lapage on the head with a brick.

FROM the office of white Lapage died five days afterwards. The dead man was a brother of Mr. Lapage of Fort Saskatchewan.

LEONARD GAST, of Red Deer lectured on Alberta in Ottawa on April 1st.

CATTLE are doing well in the Victoria Settlement this winter, but many of the settlers have been compelled to kill off most of their bands owing to poor crops last season.

J. DOWLER of East Edmonton received a letter by mail from relatives residing in Rosemead, Northumberland County, Ontario, stating that there were prospects of a considerable immigration to the Calgary district from that locality this season, and making enquiries regarding Edmonton.

THIS BULLETIN has been requested by Richard Waugh of the Nor-West Farmer to collect samples of wheat, not more than ten pounds of each variety, the best that can be got in the district, part to be kept in Winnipeg for exhibition, the rest to be added to the botanical collections at Washington and Ottawa. Samples to be accompanied by name of grower, section, etc., time sown and reaped as nearly as possible; nature of ground, with particulars as to whether dry prairie or near woods, number of crops previously raised, etc. The further north-west the wheat can be got the better. This is an opportunity of advertising the wheat growing capabilities of the district that should not be missed.

GLORIOUS LOVERNESS of Murray post office, Ontario, writes to Thos. Hourston for information regarding the Edmonton district, having seen his name in an immigration pamphlet. He has a large family for whom he wants to make a home, and small capital with which to commence life in the west. He wants to know the wages and prospects for work, and how near Edmonton he can get a homestead. Free homesteads can be procured within ten miles of Edmonton but there is greater choice at a greater distance. A man can make a better start on small capital at Edmonton than anywhere else in the Northwest, but no man with a family should come depending on wages to give him a start. An unmarried man may make a start that way but a man of family should have some capital so that he can remain on his farm. The closer he sticks to his farm the better he will get along.

THE Sacred concert given in the Methodist church on Tuesday evening was largely attended and very successful. The church was well filled, and the following programme most pleasingly rendered. Anthony, Michael, Raymer and Fortin. Chorus, "Mellie," Choir, Chorus, "O God, O Thou Great Jehovah," Choir, Solo, "One Sweetly Solenn Thought," Mr. Anthony, Trio, "Wedding March," Mrs. Walker, organ; Mr. Still, violin; Mr. McInnis, flute, Solo, "Consider the Lilies," Mr. Raymer, Chorus, "Come Holy Spirit," Choir, Trio, "Gloria in Excelsis," Miss Phillips, organ; Mr. Still, violin; Mr. McInnis, flute. #### TO INTENDING EMIGRANTS.

Men used to farm work who are anxious to make a home for themselves are those to whom this district offers the greatest inducements. Capital is not so necessary as intelligence and energy. Any man who has these two qualities in a high degree can make a start on very small capital and do well. At the same time laboring men—that is men who are simply looking for wages and not a home—are not in demand here and can probably do as well elsewhere. There is a good deal of work of one kind and another going on from time to time and wages are good, but there are generally plenty of men making a start on farms and having no capital who require all the work and wages going to help them along. The settler should have to start with, a yoke of oxen or span of horses, a wagon, plow, and harrows, cash enough to supply him with seed and food for at least a year; and if he has any more money let him put it into young cows. Such an outfit can be bought in Edmonton probably as cheaply as it can be purchased elsewhere, but if the farmer in the east has such an outfit of his own the colonist railway rates are so low that it will pay him to bring it through to Calgary by train and then drive over land to Edmonton. While this district offers special advantages to settlers with small capital, those of larger capital will also find advantages suitable to their means in the line of stock raising. Stock and dairy farms carrying from 100 to 500 head of cattle can be established in hundreds of localities throughout the district, specially suited to that industry, where it can be carried on with greater certainty and far greater profit than on the boasted ranges of the south. As the cattle are full fed all the year round they grow to greater size and have better beef, more delicate and better bred animals can be reared, being corralled at least all winter they are thoroughly tractable, and the cows can be used for dairying purposes or the oxen broken to work without difficulty, beef cattle can be driven to market with less risk and at less expense and are therefore much more valuable for shipment alive to Europe, for which the wildness of the range cattle materially injures them. While engaged in stock raising the farmer may raise produce which will help considerably to lighten his living expenses and at the same time make improvements in preparation for the time when increased settlement will compel a change from stock raising purely to mixed farming, by raising the value of land.

SOME FACTS.

MALCOLM McLEOD of Edmonton owns a steam thresher and has threshed during the seasons of '89, '88, '87 and '86 at Edmonton. In '85 and '84 threshed at Wolsley, Assinibola, and in '83 and '82 at Gladstone, Manitoba. Has threshed heavier yields of wheat, barley and oats at Edmonton than at either Wolsley or Gladstone, and the quality of grain has been equal to the best he has seen anywhere. In '86 and '89 he threshed no frozen wheat at all. In '87 there was a partial failure of wheat from frost, but still he threshed some good wheat. In '88 the yield of all grain was very heavy. A very small proportion of the wheat was injured by frost, but the greater part was untouched and the yield very heavy. Oats have been a heavy crop of excellent grain every year. Barley was injured by frost in '87 but was untouched in the other three years and yielded well. In 1887 threshed for T. G. Hutchings of Belmont 1,500 bushels of oats from 12 acres of land. In '88 threshed for Geo. Sutherland of the Sturgeon river settlement 55 bushels of white flint wheat to the acre from a field of five acres. In the same year threshed for Geo. Hutton of the Sturgeon 125 bushels of oats to the acre. Took no account of the yields of barley, but some ran over 50 bushels to the acre. In '89 the yield was light but threshed 80 bushels of oats to the acre for T. G. Hutchings and A. McLeod. Wheat yielded over 20 bushels in some cases and the sample was excellent.

JELLETT & OTTEWELL of Clover Bar settlement, south side of the Saskatchewan, in the season of 1886 threshed 684 bushels of oats from six acres, a yield of 114 bushels per acre. In 1887 they threshed 2,600 weighed bushels of oats from 26½ measured acres, a yield of 101½ bushels to the acre. The oats weighed 42½ pounds to the measured bushel. In 1888 they threshed 3,262 bushels of barley from 55 acres, a yield of 59 bush. 17 lbs. to the acre; four acres of wheat yielded 168 bushels, 42 bushels to the acre; and 42 acres of oats yielded 4,123 bushels or 98 bushels to the acre. Of the oats, however one field of 15½ acres yielded 1,758 bushels, or 113½ bushels to the acre. In 1889 they threshed 1,500 bushels of barley from 50 acres of a volunteer crop.

At the exhibition of the Edmonton agricultural society held on October 6th, 1888, there were exhibited cabbages which girthed 4 ft 1 inch, cauliflower 3 ft 1½ inch, turnips 2 ft 4 inches, weighing 23 pounds, beets 1 ft 8 inches, potatoes 1 ft by 1 ft 8 inches, white onions 1 ft 2 inches, red onions 1 ft 1½ inches, pumpkins perfectly ripe 4 ft 1 inch, squash 4 ft 3 inches, vegetable marrow 2 ft 1 inch by 3 ft 7 inches, celery 3 ft 2½ inches in length, parsnips 3 ft 7 inches in length. These articles were all produced without any special effort or skill in the line of fancy gardening.

EDMONTON DISTRICT.

The following evidence taken from the experience of practical men regarding this district and its advantages positive and comparative, and also the opportunities which it offers in certain lines of enterprise will be found of interest. The gentlemen whose names are given here may be applied to personally or by letter for the substantiation of the facts given and for further information.

JOHN KENNEDY of Poplar Lake, Edmonton, was raised at Stratford, Ontario. Farmed at Powassan in northern Ontario from '78 to '80. Left for the Northwest in February '80. Located 28 miles south of Medicine Hat, eleven miles from the timber of the Cypress Hills. Built house and put in 30 acres crop. The land was good and there was plenty of water, but timber was too far away and the drying effect of the chinook wind was too much for the crop. Went to Calgary and examined the country in that vicinity. Found some fault. Came to Edmonton, was suited with the country, went back to Medicine Hat and brought family and effects across country to Edmonton, crossing the railway at Glendon. Found the land better than south of the Red Deer. Took up land at Edmonton. Is satisfied that the soil of Edmonton is the richest he has seen in the Dominion. Besides there is plenty of water, and coal and timber for all purposes. The summer growth is good. Although last winter was reckoned severe, he considered it the most pleasant he had spent in the last eleven years. Cattle came through the winter better than they generally do in Ontario, owing to the absence of wet and of storms.

W. CURR of St. Albert was born in the north of Ireland, emigrated to the United States when a young man. Went to California in '52 and to British Columbia in '58 where he mined until '62. In that year, in company with E. F. Carey, of Norris & Carey, Edmonton, he discovered the gold diggings on Peace river, and mined for two years. He then commenced fur trading and in '77 sold out to the H. B. Co. In the spring of that year he arrived at Edmonton having made the trip from Peace river with a sleigh and one dog. His total capital was $2,400. He at once went into farming extensively at St. Albert and also on the south side of the Sturgeon river, and continued it ever since, engaging in no other enterprises. He now owns a farm at St. Albert with houses and outbuildings, another at Sturgeon river also with houses and outbuildings and a cattle farm north of St. Albert, 2,000 acres in all, of which 300 are under cultivation. He has a full stock of farm machinery and implements, including thrasher and self-binders, etc., and costing $7,000, over 200 head of cattle and 30 horses. His whole property is valued at $25,000.

ROBERT MCKERNAN, of South Side, came from the village Richmond, County of Carlton, Ontario. Farmed near Richmond six years. Came to Hay lakes 35 miles south east of Edmonton in '77 to work on the government telegraph line. Sold out in Ontario for $1,700. Moved to Edmonton in '81 and started farming. Had then stock, implements and cash amounting to about $8,000. Let the farm on shares in spring of '89. Had then the deed of a home farm of 380 acres a mile and a half from town with 100 acres fenced and 45 acres under cultivation. Large dwelling house and outbuildings. Also the deed of 100 acres at Sandy lake, twelve miles south of Edmonton. With dwelling, sheds and outbuildings used as a cattle ranch; the 20 years grazing and hay lease of five sections of land adjoining 150 head of horned cattle and 12 horses, besides sheep and pigs; with wagons, plows, harrows, seed drill, self-binder, mower, and rake, and other implements valued at $1,500 and cash besides. Has had no better luck or chances than other people and as much bad luck as others. Any industrious man who manages properly can do as well, or better.

Mr. McKernan's experience in raising cattle in this district is that with a good band from year's old up 2½ tons of hay per head is ample to winter on. If located near good hay land this can be cut and stacked by contract for from $2 to $3 a ton, but a man using his own teams and machinery and his own labor can do it more cheaply. Two men can feed and manage 150 head of cattle better. During the summer the cattle are not looked after at all, and cost nothing. During the past winter he has had 150 head on his ranch. From 36 cows he has an increase of 34, the difference representing the total losses during the year.

L. FLEMING of East Edmonton was born near Pokeness, county of Nova Scotia, and farmed there for 25 years. Came to Edmonton in the winter of '83-4. Had no capital. Brought part of family in '84 and part in '86, and sold out. He and his wife and two sons have 800 acres of land and two younger sons who work land near by as soon as they are of age. Has eight horses, a self-binder, and all other machinery and implements required on a farm. Seventy head of cattle and 15 horses. Comfortable houses and outbuildings. Considers the soil at Edmonton very much more fertile than in Nova Scotia and more fruitful, and the climate more pleasant and healthful as well. There is every opportunity at Edmonton for the industrious man to make a comfortable home for himself; very much better opportunities than exist in Nova Scotia.

TIOS, HENDERSON of Edmonton, was raised in County of Oxford, Ontario, near town of Ingersoll. Went to British Columbia in '72 and settled at Maple Ridge on the Fraser river, New Westminster district. Bought 100 acres of land of which 100 was timbered and 50 overhanging. Farmed for seven years. Then had house and barn, and 30 acres chopped and partly cleared, a small orchard and a little land under cultivation. Came to Edmonton by way of Jasper Pass in 1880. Farmed for three years and then removed to town in order to become a school, and engaged in gardening and dairying and latterly beekeeping. Left British Columbia on account of the wetness of the climate in that part and the difficulty of making a farm. For fruit raising the coast is good but for farming a man can be further ahead in six years at Edmonton than in 50 years there, and not work as hard. For stock raising and dairying there is no comparison. Considers Edmonton a better dairying district than Oxford, Ontario, or any part of British Columbia.

Regarding beekeeping Mr. Henderson and J. Knowles imported a swarm each of Italian bees from Niagara, Ontario, in June of 1888. These swarms gave two swarms each and yielded 40 pounds of surplus honey. The summer was very wet and honey abundant. Mr. Henderson wintered his three swarms in shelter above ground and lost one; Mr. Knowles wintered his in a cellar and lost none. The bees began to gather honey on March 31st of 1889, but the winter had been mild and the spring was wonderfully early. They imported two more swarms each in 1889 and these with the increase during the season gave 30 strong swarms to go into the winter of 1889-90. The summer of 1889 was very dry and there was a poor crop of honey, but the bees gathered enough for themselves and gave a surplus of 100 pounds. They were wintered in a cellar and have come through strong and with no loss. No dark colored honey is gathered here and there is abundance to be had. The bees begin to gather from the poplar and willow buds which come out from the 1st to the 25th of April, and continue gathering until about September 15th as there is such an abundance and variety of honey bearing plants. There is a longer honey season here than in Ontario and a more abundant supply.

E. BROSSEAR, of St. Albert, was born in Laprairie, Quebec, was a soldier in the union army in the American war; came from the mines of British Columbia by way of Peace river in '75. Commenced farming at St. Albert then and continued until 1888. Had no capital to start with. When leaving the farm to start store he had 355 acres of land with houses and outbuildings and over 100 acres under cultivation. Stock and implements of a total value with the land of $8,000. He never had a crop failure.

Geo. GABORN of St. Albert road was born in St. Helens, Dorchester County, Quebec. Came to Edmonton from the mines of British Columbia in 1875 and engaged in farming. His total capital was $200. He now has 640 acres of land with 75 acres under cultivation, houses, outbuildings and farm machinery. Fifteen horses, 27 head horned cattle, 24 sheep, 20 hogs. Total value $6,000.

COPIES of the bill amending the Northwest Territories act arrived last mail. The amendments are chiefly to improve the reading of the act and to strike out a number of clauses regarding matters which it is intended the assembly shall hereafter deal with. For the first time the powers of the assembly are defined by statute. Hitherto they have been granted merely by order-in-council. It is unfortunate that the definition has not been as clear in all cases as in those regarding the dual language question and the liquor question, and also regarding the appointment of deputy clerks of the court and deputy sheriffs. Under the provisions introduced regarding deputy clerks and deputy sheriffs the Northwest assembly is clearly given power to remove the disabilities which these deputies in the districts of Edmonton, Medicine Hat and Battleford hitherto labored under. The paragraph regarding the dual language is on the lines of Sir John Thompson's amendment. Regarding the survey of old trails, it is provided that such trails are subject to any rights acquired under patents for any lands crossed thereby. The bill does not touch the question as to the control of funds.

THE papers arriving by last mail give no indication of any very serious rupture in Manitoba politics. The premier Mr. Greenway was made a handsome present on the occasion of his 52nd birthday. Isaac Campbell made the presentation and Messrs. Gillies of the English opposition and A. F. Martin of the French expressed their pleasure at being able to assist on the occasion. Joseph Martin's resignation from the cabinet did not occur until the close of the session and as far as can be gathered it was for purely personal reasons. The Free Press has a number of startling but contradictory theories on the subject, and gives Mr. Martin a great deal of unmerited abuse, but that is all.

THE Northwest Farmer for April copies approvingly a recent article of the BULLETIN on creameries. It also contains notes from J. Knowles of Edmonton regarding his success in bee keeping. Mr. Knowles points out the mistake of supposing that because bees do well in some parts of the Northwest they will do well in all. Some parts have abundance of the food they require and some have not. The bare prairies are not at all adapted for bee culture. The Northwest Farmer is equal to any agricultural magazine published in the world and the best by a thousand per cent for any farmer in the Northwest.

The Victoria, B. C. Times publishes a special edition of 50,000 copies dated March 19th dealing with the resources and advantages of British Columbia in general and of Victoria in particular. From this it appears that the assessed personal property of Victoria amounts to $6,386,830, while that of Nanaimo, Westminster and Vancouver combined amounts to $1,808,430. Victoria has $619,200 of assessed income. The other three towns named have $362,650 combined. These figures are eloquent.

The Macleod Gazette is not stuck on the bombastic immigration policy outlined by the Northwest members of parliament. It says: What Canada wants most is not so much a policy for bringing in settlers as a policy for retaining them in the country after they get here. It thinks that if the $252,000 spent on immigration last year had been spent in railway extension results would have been better. It advocates cash subsidies to railways and free land to settlers as the true immigration policy.

The Moosomin Courier notes the arrival of a number of farmer colonists from Bruce, Ontario.

The curling season wound up in Calgary on April 1st.

The Tribune mentions that 198 immigrants arrived in Calgary during the first three months of this year. One hundred and sixteen of the arrivals were from Ontario and other eastern provinces. There were 29 English and 3 Irish. They brought $17,000 in effects and 22,100 in cash. The adults numbered 111.

Five German families arrived at Medicine Hat from Winnipeg on March 26th. They brought thirty head of stock and plenty of farm implements. They will be followed by about 200 others who will settle about 20 miles south of Medicine Hat on the south branch miles of Seven Persons river.

The Calgary Herald mentions that the Midnapore woollen mills of Fish creek south of Calgary are turning out a first class article of blankets, flannels and yarn.

The Battleford Herald reports the loss of 25 head of cattle at Goose lake north of the Saskatchewan from lack of water.

Fat cattle are being shipped from the Cypress Hills ranges to Regina.

Nineteen Ontario settlers for the Calgary district arrived on April 2nd.

50,000 FARMERS

AND THEIR FAMILIES

WANTED IN NORTHERN ALBERTA.

HOW TO GET THERE—Take the Canadian Pacific Railway to Calgary station, and from there North, with your own conveyances, or by stage, which leaves weekly for the North.

Before settling anywhere else intending settlers will find it to their advantage to come and see the "Garden of the Northwest Territories," and ascertain for themselves the following, which is respectfully tendered as being correct:

That Northern Alberta has sufficient vacant land for at least 50,000 families.

That the soil is second to none anywhere in the Territories or Manitoba, as the crops we raise prove, and samples of which will be shown by any of our farmers.

That no where else in the Territories is there such abundance of building timber, fence rails, firewood, coal, good hay and pasturage and pure water.

That, this is the richest coal district.

That, there are large timber limits.

That, this is a rich mineral district.

That, the North Saskatchewan River which runs by our doors, is a good navigable one, which is an important factor, as an outlet and inlet, in addition to which a large number of our settlers every summer, get quite an income from it, by washing for gold, which any one can easily learn how to do. Last year (1889) our settlers took out $20,000 in gold dust.

That to the North of us, is the great Peace and Mackenzie River Country, which is known to be the richest unworked mineral district in America. Before long an immense market for all our flour, bacon, etc., will be found there.

That Northern Alberta is the highway through which the new transcontinental Railway will run to the Pacific Coast, via Jasper Pass, thus giving us another market for our grain and produce, with whom Manitoba, or any other portion of the Territories cannot compete, as we are so much closer. The Jasper, or Yellow Head Pass, is the most accessible pass there is. Neither the American, or Canadian Pacific Railways, have anything like it.

Finally—Northern Alberta has the best of schools, which receive a very liberal help from the Dominion government. That two railways from Calgary, and two from the east, are now heading this way. Railway communication will thus be a thing of the near future, the want of which, at the moment, is the only draw back to Northern Alberta.

In tendering these few remarks I would respectfully ask all the readers of the BULLETIN to get a few copies and send to their friends in Canada, or abroad, who may thus be induced to come and see Northern Alberta, and also some of its business points, such as
